

Missionary Jar

Cut out the questions below and put them in a jar. During Family Home Evening or at another time, have each child draw a question. The child has two options: discuss the topic before they are asked the question, or discuss the topic after they are asked the question. Each child should choose a family member to pretend they are a friend; that family member will then ask the child the question. Answers to many of these questions may be found at www.mormon.org or www.lds.org.

(Our kids LOVE drawing these questions! Not only has it helped them learn more about The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints, but through discussion they've learned how to tactfully answer these questions. It has been a great missionary tool in our family!)
